

Kamen, D. (2014) “Sale for the Purpose of Freedom: Slave-Prostitutes and Manumission in Ancient Greece”, Classical Journal 109, 281-307.

-

This article argues that “sale for the purpose of freedom” was a mode of manumission of particular use to enslaved prostitutes (especially hetairai), due to their access to a number of potential “buyers” (namely, past and present clients).