

Sjöberg, B. (2012) “More than just gender: the Classical oikos as a site of intersectionality”, in R. Laurence & A. Strömberg (eds), Families in the Greco-Roman World, Continuum International Publishing Group, London, 48–59.

The article demonstrates the usefulness of intersectionality allowing through literary sources an analyse of how identities as gender, class, age and sexuality relate to each other within the household and construction of multiple hierarchy along these social categories.
