

Campanile, D., Carlà-Uhink, F., Facella, M. (eds) (2017), TransAntiquity. Cross-Dressing and Transgender Dynamics in the Ancient World, Routledge, London – New York.

This collective volume was the first to investigate systematically throughout Mediterranean Antiquity transgender practices, in particular cross-dressing, and their visual and literary representations, investigating their relevance in ancient cultures, societies, religions and their interactions with normative prescriptions about gender roles and gender boundaries.

Table of contents:

Domitilla Campanile, Filippo Carlà-Uhink, and Margherita Facella, Preface

Part 1: Transgender Dynamics in the Ancient Social and Political Space

Filippo Carlà-Uhink, 'Between the Human and the Divine': Cross-Dressing and Transgender Dynamics in the Graeco-Roman World

Andrea Raggi, Cross-Dressing in Rome between Norm and Practice

Domitilla Campanile, The Patrician, the General and the Emperor in Women's Clothes. Examples of Cross-Dressing in Late Republican and Early Imperial Rome

Martijn Icks, Cross-Dressers in Control. Transvestism, Power and the Balance between the Sexes in the Literary Discourse of the Roman Empire

Part 2: Ancient Transgender Dynamics and the Sacred Sphere

Valerio Simini, Cross-Dressing and the Sexual Symbolism of the Divine Sphere in Pharaonic Egypt

Fiorella La Guardia, Aspects of Transvestism in Greek Myths and Rituals

Margherita Facella, Beyond Ritual: Cross-Dressing between Greece and the Orient

Chiara O. Tommasi, Cross-Dressing as Discourse and Symbol in Late Antique Religion and Literature

Part 3: Transgender as Subversive Literary Discourse

Enrico Medda, "O Saffron Robe, to what Pass have you brought me!" Cross-Dressing and Theatrical Illusion in Aristophanes' Thesmophoriazusa

Christian Stoffel, Declaiming and (Cross-)Dressing: Remixing Roman Declamation and its Metaphorology

Bobby Xinyue, Imperatrix and bellatrix: Cicero's Clodia and Vergil's Camilla

Part 4: Transgender Myth

Fabio Guidetti, The Hero's White Hands. The Early History of the Myth of Achilles on Scyros

Alexandra Eppinger, Hercules cinaedus? The Effeminate Hero in Christian Polemic